

In response to the Coronavirus crisis, we here at The Society of Women Engineers wanted to post a quick update to let you know that we are taking steps to protect the health and safety of our staff and to recognize our community responsibility to prevent the further spread of the virus while maintaining the ongoing work of the Society.

While the organization remains open, most of the staff in our office will be working remotely for the next two weeks, when we will reassess. We are open and operating and working each day from 8:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. (CDT). All staff are available via email, phone, and through teleconference platforms such as GoToMeeting. While we expect no disruption in any of our work, we did want to let you know that in an abundance of caution we are doing our best to follow CDC recommended protocols. If our response times are a bit slower, we appreciate your patience and understanding.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Karen Horting at karen.horting@swe.org or 312.596.5223.

Thank you so much and stay healthy.
